The Youth Hostel in Beja has wonderful facilities for you and your mates. As for sights, you get plenty to choose from. Don't forget this is the largest district in the country, so save at least half a day to see your host town.

Visit the monuments, the historic villages and go on the many tours that the Lower Alentejo province has to offer. Go up in a balloon and gaze peacefully at the plains - it'll be an unforgettable experience. With your feet on the ground, find a way of getting to Mértola - why not go by canoe down the Guadiana River and get to know the Guadiana valley nature reserve? - to Monsaraz and to Serpa.

The best thing to do is to come for a few days, with plenty of time, so you can enjoy it all at your own pace. After all, this is a place where things are done slowly...

The good thing about the Youth Hostel in Lagos is that it's close to everything.

If you stay here, you're within the town centre, so you're near the shops and all the facilities you could need for a wonderful holiday. Near the marina, you'll find a small boat that takes you to Meia Praia, an enormous extension of white sand. Other beaches hide behind the cliffs, and the water is a magical green, from the yellow of the sun and the deep blue sea.

Going back to the city, you can enjoy its lively nightlife, checking out the many bars filled with foreign voices. Don't be shy; this may be the beginning of a long-lasting friendship.

Leaflets advertising this region ask the question: "Could this be God's address?" True, the Azores islands do have a mystical appeal to them. Ideal for melancholic souls in search of silence and for those who want to look at the sea animals of the region, whales and dolphins, it is equally wonderful for more active types who prefer to go diving, fishing and hiking. The Youth Hostel in Angra do Heroísmo, on the island of Terceira, is your base from which you can set off to discover the history of this World Heritage town. Aren't these the holidays you've been dreaming about!? Well then, stop messing around and get on a plane, cos swimming will take too long.

Become an adventurer, sail to the island of S. Miguel and dock at Ponta Delgada. When you're well anchored down, make yourself comfortable at the Youth Hostel of Ponta Delgada. You'll only be a few minutes' walk from the town centre. As you may have noticed on your voyage, you're in the middle of the Atlantic, with lots of water around! At the marina, you can find out about the many kinds of sport and leisure activities to occupy your valuable time. Windsurfing, scuba-diving and fishing - who knows, maybe you'll catch a sword-fish... Then tour around the island, visit the lagoons and travel through the volcanic lands. The climate may be unpredictable, but it's mild enough to allow for a balanced ecosystem that produces such tasty things as the popular island cheese. What that means is: green pastures + cows + an experienced hand = a full stomach. The esplanade offers you a number of great bars and lively entertainment. This island will drive you wild.

If you haven't got a clue where Abrantes is, just look at a map of Portugal and aim for the middle. The Youth Hostel in Abrantes is on a hill, between the town and the Tagus River, providing you with a range of good things to choose from. During your stay, we suggest you take three trips - to Tomar, to Constância and to Sardoal.

If you are more interested in the outdoor life, check out the Castelo de Bode Reservoir and have an invigorating swim in the lagoon off the River Zêzere, whilst breathing in the pure country air.

When you're back near the Youth Associations Support Center, try the wickedly tasty local cakes, but don't tell anyone, or you'll have to share them!

If you stay at the Youth Hostel in Aveiro, you'll be able to get to know a town that is thriving, both socially and financially. The university is extremely lively and you might be interested in doing a course here. So now you know what to do before making a decision regarding your future: take a look at the sunny town of Aveiro.

Or why not go and see a quality basketball game (Ovarense, Illiabum, Beira-Mar, Sangalhos and Aveiro Basket are excellent options), go canoeing on the river or take in the unique beauty of Dunas de São Jacinto nature reserve. As well as checking out Praia da Barra or Costa Nova beach, of course.

More likely than not, you'll consider moving over.

The Castelo Branco Youth Hostel is back!! It was totally revamped and is now brand new, waiting to be visited by you and your friends!

Leave your luggage at the hostel and set out on the adventure. There's so much to see that it is going to be difficult to choose where to start... After touring around the city it is time to try Rappel, Slide or if you prefer to keep seeing beautiful sights why not choose All Road or a canoe ride. And don't go back home without trying the delicious typical dish of the region followed by arroz doce (sweet rice) or an enormous slice of the best Pão-de-Ló (sponge cake) that you've ever eaten!!

Come on, let's go!!

You don't have to be a graduate to visit Coimbra and get to know the students' city, as it is called. Have a walk around the city and take in the atmosphere of academic traditions, noticing the many student residences (repúblicas), the torn academic gowns and the ancient university. Who knows, maybe one day you'll end up studying here!

If you enjoy canoeing, then don't miss this opportunity to paddle in the Mondego waters. But if you're into more alternative sports, then Serra da Lousã is the place to practise everything related to mountaineering and adventure.

Oh, and don't forget: there are academic parties all year round, with few interruptions.

The Youth Hostel of Penhas da Saúde is located in the middle of the Serra da Estrela Nature Reserve, at an altitude of about 1900 metres. Picture this: spectacular landscape with steep mountains, pure white snow in the winter and the chance to go skiing or snowboarding. If it's too chilly for you, you can always stay indoors and use the hostel kitchen to roast a typical Beira sausage, which you can have with Serra cheese. When the sun is shining, take a ride to Fundão, Seia, Gouveia, Manteigas and Belmonte. When the evening comes, the students in Covilhã liven up the town.

Before you hit the road, you can always make friends with a Serra da Estrela sheepdog.

Guarda, the high city built in granite, might remind you of a bride, all dressed in white snow in the winter months.

If you stay at the Youth Hostel in Guarda, you'll definitely fall in love with this town. The monuments and the quiet mountain villages tell the tale of their own history.

On the outskirts of the Serra da Estrela mountain range, the steep slopes invite you to accept nature's challenge and go hiking or rock-climbing. Hiking is definitely the thing to do around here, since it is the best way to get to the places that are more out-of-the-way.

But if you're looking for some fun, Spain is right next-door, with villages like Ciudad Rodrigo and cities like Salamanca. That's right, the country next door is worth visiting, too.

Right in the middle of the country, there are plenty of good reasons for you to visit Leiria. As in many other cities, the castle is always the ideal starting point to get a good view of the town. South of Leiria, there are several places where you can try out new activities.

The caves within the nature reserve of Aire and Candeeiros mountain ranges will initiate you in speleology - that's caving. Other towns and villages, such as Alcobaça, Tomar, Porto de Mós, Fátima, Batalha and Nazaré, provide you with a wealth of things to do. You won't be bored, that's for sure. Tired, maybe. But you can always lie on your hostel bed, gaze at the beautiful plasterwork ceiling, count some sheep and have a little snooze.

On the north coast, in the Aveiro district, you'll find the town of Ovar. Its Youth Hostel is located in the outskirts of town, surrounded by pinewoods.

Given its location and the facilities available, it is ideal for school groups on summer holidays. If the hostel swimming pool is not enough, you can always try the local beaches. And while you're there, check out the traditional craft of the local fishermen. As you're well aware, traditions are disappearing and it's not everyday that you get a chance to chat with an old seawolf.

If you want something more energetic, be it in the woods, the river or the sea, you can always go hiking, mountain-biking or do a number of water sports.

With so much water around, you'll end up growing scales!

The Youth Hostel of S. Pedro do Sul is located at a spa town in the province of Beira.

The town of S. Pedro do Sul - which is 3 kilometres away from the Hostel and 20 km from the town of Viseu - has a sports complex where you can do swimming, squash or table tennis. But if you'd rather feel the challenge of nature, you can also go hiking along footpaths and tracks up in the mountains. As you will soon realise, S. Pedro has an inner, natural beauty to it.

If, after all this action, you feel knackered, there's nothing like an invigorating bath at the spa. Now picture yourself enjoying a sauna, a Vichy shower and a water massage...

There's a traditional song that goes like this: "As I travelled, as I travelled, on my way to Viseu; I found my true love, oh, Jesus, here I go!!!" Even if you don't find your true love there, Viseu has many interesting touristy and cultural points. As the district's capital, set on a plateau between a range of mountains where rivers like Paiva and Dão flow by, the town of Viseu is connected to the historic figure of Viriato, who, like Astérix, gave a good beating to the Romans.

Viseu has a rich heritage of historic monuments that you might want to visit. So, don't just sit there and come along and see incredible buildings such as the cathedral or the Grão Vasco Museum.

And because you'll want to measure up to Viriato's warrior spirit, you will want to defy the laws of nature by practising some mountain biking, canoeing, hang-gliding or paragliding, among other adventure sports.

What are you waiting for!? Make your reservation now!

The Youth Hostel in Almada has one of the most spectacular views in the country. Built on the south shore of the River Tagus, next to the 25 de Abril bridge, it gives you a unique opportunity to gaze at a panoramic view of Lisbon whilst sipping a coffee or reading your favourite book. Going into Lisbon is as quick as a flash - except in rush hour. By train, bus, ferryboat or car, you can go and check out Lisbon by night, wandering along the docks in Alcântara and Avenida 24 de Julho or around Bairro Alto. There's always a chance of catching some big waves in Costa da Caparica: there are plenty of beaches to choose from. If you're not from around here, we suggest you buy a tourist guide, so you don't miss out on what to do and see.

The Youth Hostel at Parque das Nações was built in 1998 to host young people from all over the globe who came to visit Expo 98.

by bus, tube, or in your own car. In the huge shopping centres, you can check out the latest international fashion styles or see the most recent films in their cinemas.

Lisbon is where the action is. Here, you can go to great stadium concerts and major football matches. With all these possibilities, the thing to do is to get yourself a Youth Card.

Whether you're just passing through or staying for a while, grab the chance to know what the city has to offer and enjoy it to the full.

With the renovation of the east side of town, a whole range of facilities were created, much to the satisfaction of Lisbon's inhabitants.

Young people were absolutely thrilled with the new possibility of having huge concerts in Pavilhão Atlântico, visiting the theme pavillions and Lisbon's Oceanarium, or even going bowling.

This is the Lisbon of the future, organized and lively. Obviously, it had to have a Youth Hostel.

A restored 18th century fort, the Youth Hostel of Catalazete is a great option for young people who want to see Lisbon and the Estoril coastline.

Oeiras is your host town. Here, you can use the sport and leisure facilities, such as Vale do Jamor sports complex - where the National Stadium is located - and the seawater public swimming pool, next to the hostel.

If you prefer the beach, then Carcavelos is the nearest option, but the railway line along the coast gives you lots of others to choose from. Come and have a drink with us and watch the Tagus River meet the Atlantic Ocean.

Welcome to the land where you can still see dolphins: or rather, porpoises. But before you take the ferryboat to Tróia, drop your bags at the Albergue Juvenil and go for a stroll in the town.

Just off the mouth of the Sado River, the district of Setúbal is a mixture of natural landscape and industries of all kinds. An important fishing port, Setúbal's old neighbourhoods still show signs of this ancient craft. A paradox, sure enough.

If action's the word for you, there's a whole variety of sports that you can do in Serra da Arrábida nature reserve, as well as activities related to the protection of the environment in the nature reserve of the Sado estuary.

With an urban perimeter which extends almost to the outskirts of Lisbon, Setúbal invites you to visit the neighbouring villages of Azeitão, Palmela and Sesimbra. The trip will be definitely worth it!

A city rich in traditions, Braga is full of symbols of a history that goes back way before our grandparents' time.

The Youth Hostel is near the main landmarks. Now let's see, once you've done the town, go up to Bom Jesus and take a good look at it: that's right, it keeps growing.

Guimarães is not far away, and you'll appreciate the old town centre with its quaint houses. It's welcoming and it's also a World Heritage site.

Or you can always set off for some adventure in Peneda-Gerez national park. So, it's up to you, pack your bags and don't forget to bring a pair of hiking boots.

This is a luxury Youth Hostel. After all, you deserve it. It is built on the beautiful lands of Trás-os-Montes, where nature is something else.

Surely the fact that Bragança is far up, in the extreme northwest corner of Portugal, is hardly an excuse for you not to go there. And there's more: if you want to get away from the rat race, your choice couldn't be better. Hiking tracks, climbing rocks, mountain-biking routes and all sorts of adventure sports are there for the doing in Douro International Nature Reserve or Montesinho Nature Reserve.

Get your rucksack, call up your gang and get on a bus or rent a car and get away from it all.

On the bank of the River Cávado, in a village called Fão, you'll find the Youth Hostel of Foz do Cávado. This is one of the most popular hostels among students who travel around the country on field trips. Renovated in 2000, the hostel has a new swimming pool, which makes the gardens around it even more enticing. The sea is pretty close too, which might make it hard for you to make up your mind.

The Cávado, which flows right next to the hostel, is one of the best rivers for canoeing and other water sports.

This town is also the birthplace of a new Youth Hostel which is right next to the historic centre of Guimarães - considered World Heritage since 2001. Once you're all settled, climb the hill to the castle, then walk down towards the Dukes' Palace, and finally sit comfortably at one of the outdoor cafés in Largo da Oliveira.

Check out the city's sports events. There's a sports pavillion in Guimarães which is fully equipped and also has a football stadium where the main team - Vitória Sport Clube - usually plays. If you feel like enjoying a panoramic view over the city, go up to Monte da Penha. Walking there means an uphill climb of 7 kilometres, so... the best thing to do is take the cable-car! And when night comes, you can always join the university students who fill up the town's bars.

You might have already figured out that you'll like it here.

Did you know there's a new Youth Hostel at Ponte de Lima? It's brand new and you can actually be one of the first people to benefit from its modern and comfortable rooms. Besides, the typical northern village it is located in offers you colourful, rural scenery full of attractions to visit.

You can either follow the ?tourist route? set up by the local council, which leads you around the most important monuments of the historic centre; or discover that amazing legacy by yourself, without having to follow the signs. But let us give you a few hints: go to the Monte da Madalena belvedere, so that you can get a panoramic view of Ponte de Lima; visit the nature reserve of Lagoas de Bertandos and S. Pedro de Arcos and, to top it all in beauty, take the time to go for a swim in the river Lima.

If you're an extrovert and you like partying, the best time to come to this ancient walled town is the third week of September, when the village hosts the Feiras Novas, traditional festivities that bring thousands of people to town.

Proudly unconquered and tripe eating: there you have two emblems of Oporto. As soon as you get there, you'll realize this won't be your last visit to the city. There's just too much to see.

Since you're staying at the Oporto Youth Hostel, we will be honoured to serve you breakfast with a panoramic view of the Douro estuary. And after the grub, check out the town. Take in the different styles of local architecture, zigzag across the bridges, taste the Port wine in one of the many cellars, mix with the people in Bolhão marketplace, count the number of steps as you climb to the top of Clérigos' Tower and take a souvenir photo in Avenida dos Aliados.

If you're a football freak, then FC Porto and Boavista stadiums are waiting to hear you scream wildly. The Rosa Mota pavillion and the coliseum should have several events scheduled to suit your taste. At night, the Ribeira and the many discos in town are a clear synonym for fun unlimited. All this and much more.

Porto is a cool town.

Meet the "princess of Lima"; the town of Viana do Castelo. Go on, bow down before her. This noble city on the Minho coast will put you up at its luxurious Youth Hostel - a recently built unit with excellent facilities.

The mouth of the river Lima shelters an important port and shipyard while Viana do Castelo shows off its beautiful monuments to its visitors. The most emblematic landmark is probably the Sanctuary of Santa Luzia, both for its grandeur and for its breathtaking panoramic view.

Up in the north, the Atlantic waters are naturally cooler. However, the summer calls for some fun in the sea. Praia de Âncora and Moledo, with their beach cafés, will definitely become your favourite spots.

The Vila Real Youth Hostel is beyond the Marão mountain range, where people have their own way of doing things.

So you can do the same and use your initiative to get to know the historical landmarks of the region, such as Solar de Mateus and the stone-age sanctuary of Panóias. Around here, nature seems truly defiant, with its huge mountain ranges of Marão and Alvão. Obviously, it's an ideal location for mountaineering. Set off to discover this amazing inland region.
